TP3 APPOINTS NEW CEO

TP3 Names Suzanne Dwyer as New Chief Executive Officer

TP3 is delighted to announce the appointment of Suzanne Dwyer as new TP3 Chief Executive Officer. Dwyer will officially step into the CEO role on April 27, 2011 and will be accountable to the Board of Directors, led by TP3's recently appointed Chairman, Dr. Stephen Moss. Dwyer replaces Steve Lemlin who has been in the role of CEO for 12 months.

Dwyer comes to TP3 with over 20 years of business experience in professional services, commercialisation, consulting, learning & development, training and education. She has developed and led single and multi-site operations in the Asia-Pacific region including managing Australia's largest and most profitable corporate education centre. Dwyer's own consulting practice has won millions of dollars in government funding and established new business units for NSW Business Chambers.

"This is an exciting and inspiring time for TP3," says Dwyer, "The market for our broad range of services is increasingly competitive and clients are looking for more innovative solutions to improve their competitiveness and efficiency. Going forward, I will be focusing on new ways to increase effectiveness and efficiency to the benefit of our clients and staff".

Dwyer's appointment is the final step in a series of company changes aimed at creating a clearer distinction between the Board of Directors and an employee-based executive team of experts.

"Suzanne's wealth of industry knowledge, expertise and experience brings a large network of contacts and successful strategies which will help TP3 move from the current foundations to being a true market-leader in client service, professional service excellence, and achieve financial strength and stability" says Dr. Stephen Moss, Chairman of the Board, TP3. "Now we must make the most of all new opportunities to provide our clients an even better offering in the future," he continues.
